RECOMENDATION

To Whom It May Concern,

I have had the pleasure of having Jon Cochran in two of my design classes at the University of Hartford. I was his professor for “Image Processes” last spring as a part of the Interactive Information Technology major and I’m glad to say I have him in this semester’s “Image Making and Meaning” class in the Hartford Art School’s graphic design department. In my classes he has designed computer icons, complete websites, multimedia projects, posters and books.

Jon has been near the top of both very different groups in both a technical and artistic sense. He’s very technically apt, but also has a really good eye for visuals. He’s also been quite good about sitting down with another student and giving them assistance– he was practically a teaching assistant on some of the projects we worked on last year.

Jon has got a good sense of humor, excellent attention to detail and does some of the best design work that I’ve seen in all of the classes I’ve taught. In two full semesters, I can’t think of one time Jon has missed a deadline. I’d hire him myself if I only had a position for him!

Please feel free to email me or give me a call if you’d like to talk further. My contact info is all listed below.
